This article will help you. The present invention relates to an interior-temperature sensor and a method of manufacturing the interior-temperature sensor. JP-H05-500811-A and JP-2007-257216-A disclose an interior-temperature sensor of the related art. In these related arts, a temperature-dependent resistance-film pattern is provided in an insulating substrate of SiO₂, the substrate surface is coated with a resin film, and one of the surfaces of the film is bonded to the resistance-film pattern. By bonding an electrical connection conductor to the other surface of the film, the film is electrically connected to a resistance-film resistor element on the resistance-film pattern through the conductor. JP-2007-100153-A discloses an example of an interior-temperature sensor using a metallic material. In this example, a temperature-dependent resistance film is formed using a metallic material and is interposed between a pair of insulating substrate sheets, the opposed surfaces of the substrate sheets are coated with a resin sheet, and the resin sheet is bonded to the resistance-film sheet. JP-2005-178072-A discloses an example of a method of manufacturing an interior-temperature sensor. This example includes a step of injection-molding a resin to fix a resistance-film sheet in a mold, a step of injecting a liquid silicone rubber (resin for covering) to fix the resistance-film sheet and the mold in which the sheet is included, and a step of heating and curing the sheet. JP-2008-227061-A discloses an example of a thermal protective film. In this example, a resist
